

Furs, Fur Lined Coats and Fur Coats

The cold winter days will soon be upon us. Will they find you prepared? Won't you want a nice warm Fur or Fur Lined Coat or a set of Furs.

You probably realize how the scarcity of fur has advanced the price in the last few years. This year many Furs will be from 33 per cent to 50 per cent higher than last year.

But our Furs were bought early last May and therefore at last years prices. Wise women will purchase early and have the advantage of our foresight.

We have a complete assortment of Fur Coats in all the best wearing materials, such as River Mink, Marmot, Pony, etc. The prices range from $25 to $110.

We can show you a Fur Lined Coat priced at $15 that cannot be equalled in the state at this price. Others up to $75.

In small Furs we have every conceivable variety and style. The prices range from $1.98 to $42.50.

This is not the first time that his place has been broken into, and he is going to put a stop to it right now by punishing the latest offense.

Sunday arrivals at the hotel Otis were as follows: W. E. Fiske, Northfield; G. W. Ford, Hardwick; N. Campbell, Burlington; H. G. Woodard, St. Albans; Harry Creece, Hardwick; R. M. Whitman, Springfield; C. Gomez, Bethel; H. H. Watson, Hardwick; C. J. Smith, Springfield; L. H. Gea, Boston; J. Lipsey, Thetford Mines, Que.; J. B. Gale, Wallingford.

The management of the Pavilion presents to-day the first dramatic sketch ever seen at that theatre. In reality it is a one-act war drama, presented by three people. The act comes highly recommended and will no doubt prove a very interesting diversion, as it contains many thrilling situations. Van and Davis, a comedy eccentric singing, dancing and talking act, will furnish the laughs. A fine dramatic western picture, a comedy picture and an educational picture complete the program, which appears to cover a very wide variety of amusements.

Sunday and Monday arrivals at the City hotel were as follows: J. B. Olney, Omaha, Neb.; H. Keesworth, Ontario; Miss Alice Kendall, Arlington, Mass.; C. B. Carpenter, Bellows Falls; L. P. Mann, Woodville, N. H.; T. D. Simmons, W. H. Stetson, F. L. K. Jewett, Boston; G. W. Williamson, Littleton, N. H.; C. A. Harvey, Burlington; F. L. Blake, Stark, N. H.

MOTHERS OF CIVIL WAR VETERANS

Mrs. Nichols of Williamstown and Mrs. Johnson of Colchester Share Honors.

Editor, Times: There was an error in the item, in the issue of October 15, in regard to Mrs. Hannah Nichols being the only known living mother of a Civil war veteran. Mrs. Nichols is the only mother in the department of Vermont, Ladies of the Grand Army.

Mrs. Charlotte Johnson of Colchester is the mother of a veteran of the war of the rebellion and celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary October 10. Mrs. Johnson is in good health and can see very well without the aid of glasses. Where is the next one?

"The mothers who gave their brave sons to the fray."

With tears for their pillows, but smiles for the day—

surely are worthy of especial mention.

Mrs. H. E. Batchelder, Burlington, Vt., Oct. 17.

Death of Miss Sadie Rublee and Mrs. Melissa Ladd.

Miss Sadie Rublee died at St. Albans Saturday morning, after a few days' illness with brain fever. Miss Rublee had been employed in that place several weeks. Some ten days ago, Albert Rublee of this town received word of her serious illness. He at once went to St. Albans, but as she seemed more comfortable, he came home in a few days. News was received Saturday morning of her death. Miss Rublee is survived by a mother, one sister, Miss Ethel Rublee of Montpelier, and one brother, Albert Rublee of Plainfield, with whom the mother makes her home. Miss Rublee was a successful and popular teacher. Although having spent but a few weeks in Plainfield, she had made many friends, who extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Melissa Ladd died Saturday morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. Theron Morse, after a long and painful illness of gangrene. Mrs. Ladd was born in Plainfield, September 25, 1835, the daughter of Dudley and Irene Perkins. Some forty years ago, she married Jacob Ladd. Two sons were born to them, Merton and Eldon. Merton died of consumption several years ago, leaving a wife, Mrs. Julia Ladd, who has faithfully nursed Mrs. Ladd for the past few weeks, and two sons. After Mr. Ladd's death, Mrs. Ladd continued to live in Perkinsville. She spent last winter with her son, Eldon, in Chicago, returning here a few months ago, since which time she has been in poor health. Mrs. Ladd is survived by one brother, Jonathan Perkins of Montpelier; one son, Eldon of Chicago, and four grandchildren. The funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. A. W. Hewitt officiating.
